BABY WEANING!

Persuading a child to accept new foods, flavours and textures in an important stage of their development from the age of 4 months. Introducing new flavours is often one of the main concerns when parents begin the weaning process. This essential step will enable the child to truly enjoy trying new foods, whilst eating a little bit of everything and prevent future « fussy eaters »

Babymoov works with experts in infant nutrition and taste education, coming up with new solutions and guiding parents through this crucial stage.

How?

By offering a comprehensive and user-friendly range of additional products that enable parents to prepare varied, healthy meals quickly and easily.

Our feeding range is also part of our GreenMoov initiative: choosing to use more natural and sustainable materials such as glass and stainless steel, as well as designing products which are multi-purpose and adaptable.

OUR BABYMONITORS PHILOSOPHY

Babymoov has been creating innovative ways to reduce wave emissions in its baby monitors for over 15 years.

Because you can't put a price on health, Babymoov was the first brand to take this into consideration when developing its baby monitors, applying a precautionary approach as early as 2007!

That's why Babymoov created Digital Green Technology in 2012; technology that combines all the advantages of digital (clear sound and zero interference) with the advantages of analogue technology (low transmitting power).

The study carried out by the independent Electromagnetic Compatibility laboratory at the Institut Pascal, part of the French National Centre for Scientific Research, certifies that Babymoov baby monitors emit up to 33 times fewer waves than other brands! This is an amazing achievement for our teams, and we derive enormous satisfaction from being able to offer this great compromise to all parents. Our recent collaboration with ElectroSmart and INRIA (National Institute for Research in Digital Science and Technology) strengthens our position in reducing waves and confirms the benefits of Digital Green Technology.

More recently, in 2019, our Group partnered with Reforest'Action which works on reforestation projects around the world: by buying one of our baby monitors, parents have thereby enabled 2,000 trees to be replanted to reforest the Dormans forest in the Marne area of France, thereby regenerating 12,000 years' worth of oxygen.

To care for parents and their babies for many generations to come!

Opened in 2013, the crèche can accommodate more than 30 children between 0 and 3 years of age, enabling them to develop in a calm atmosphere, under the expert eye of our product development team

In 2018, Babymoov went one step further in improving well-being at work by introducing a flexible working and homeworking system for all its teams!
